

Baird invests in specialist recruitment firm

Baird, a mid market private equity firm has paid a significant but undisclosed amount for a majority shareholding in the 22-year-old company which will fuel the agency's growth strategy. Founder Nigel Wright said: "This will take us from being a medium-sized company to a larger organisation. We wanted to be a global business and we needed additional cash to make that happen."

To read the full press release follow this link. Joint press release.