

Dear John,

As you're probably aware, unemployment in the UK has dropped to its lowest level in six years. Vacancies at UK firms have also risen at the strongest pace in more than 16 years.

Significantly, the north east is playing a key role in the UK's continued economic recovery. It was recently heralded as the fastest growing region in the UK, with manufacturing output and orders as well as business start-up rates amongst the best in the country

To meet the demands of the growing economy, we've already hired over 30 additional consultants this year, yet to ensure so that we have greater capability to deal the velocity of change, we need to hire more.
